

Introducing:

HighQ[®]

Transform how your legal department works with HighQ and Thomson Reuters

HighQ for corporate legal teams

Legal intelligence

Collate and analyze data from across your legal operations to gain valuable insights and visualize key performance indicators in customizable reporting dashboards.

Legal management

Improve demand management by centralizing legal request intake and enabling your business with self-service document automation.

Outside counsel management

Easily collaborate and communicate with external lawyers from anywhere, on any device, in one enterprise collaboration solution.

Knowledge sharing

Free information from knowledge silos and deliver valuable legal expertise and awareness to your team and business through portals, blogs and shared workspaces.

Contract management

Increase the velocity of contract workflows by simplifying approvals, tracking milestones, managing renewals, collecting eSignatures and analyzing metrics.

Efficient collaboration

Enable your legal team to collaborate and communicate efficiently across legal functions, offices and time zones and reduce reliance on email.

Full of enterprise-grade features

HighQ's secure content collaboration platform is packed full of innovative features right out of the box. It's a workspace where invited users can securely share information and collaborate on projects. Each workspace includes Files, Wiki, Blog, Tasks, Events, iSheets and People modules. Other features are integrated throughout the application, including activity streams, microblogging, private messaging, commenting, liking, notifications, people profiles, search, filters, favorites and tags for a dynamic and engaging experience.

Made for mobility

Regardless of how you access HighQ — desktop, tablet or mobile—the responsive design provides an optimized experience on any device.

An amazing user experience

The consumer-grade interface and design, combined with enterprise-grade technology, provides a powerful and intuitive user experience.

Private cloud

We host the platform in our own private cloud in seven data centers around the world. You decide where to store your data and it stays there.

Dedicated instance

We provide you with your own dedicated instance, so you get to choose how it's configured, when you upgrade and how it's branded.

Simple and fast deployment

Our approach delivers the benefits of rapid deployment, frequent upgrades and easy scaling with no maintenance headaches.

Enterprise-grade security

Built for the enterprise, independently tested and ISO 27001 certified so you have the high-grade security and control you need for your sensitive data.

Powerful toolkit

With a modern API, we can fit into your existing infrastructure and integrate with key enterprise systems, such as SharePoint, Active Directory and SQL Server.

Infinite possibilities

The combined benefits of the powerful feature set reduce cost, administration and integration overheads and simplify your business and technology landscape.
